Contents

The ORTESOL Journal Volume 24, 2006

Features

The Globalization of English: A Personal Reflection from Costa Rica ........................................... 1
Ken Winograd, Oregon State University

Understanding Arab Students ........................................................................................................ 7
Susan Matson, ELS Language Centers, and Mark Algren, University of Kansas

Creating a Multi-Cultural, Student-Centered Classroom ...................................................... 14
Lee Ann McNerney, Eastern Oregon University, and Hiromi Beppu, Nyssa Elementary School

Language Problems Facing Omani Learners of English ...................................................... 19
Ali Al-Issa, Sultan Qaboos University

No Culture Left Behind: Reaching the Purepecha Indigenous People ................................. 28
Barbara Swanson, Willkes Elementary; Katharine Ballash, Woodland Elementary; and Michelle Kosthas, Alder Elementary

Columns

In This Issue .................................................................................................................................... ii

Teaching Notes

Voice E-mail ..................................................................................................................................... 29
John Sparks, Portland Community College

Lights, camera, pronunciation! ...................................................................................................... 30
Char Heitman, University of Oregon

Using learner-generated materials to personalize learning ..................................................... 31
Tom Delaney, University of Oregon

Reading with the Left Brain or the Right? .................................................................................. 32
Marna Broekhoff, University of Oregon

Not Your Usual Final Project ......................................................................................................... 33
Lora Yasen, Tokyo International University

Information for contributors ......................................................................................................... 34

About ORTESOL

Oregon Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages (ORTESOL) is a not-for-profit organization whose purposes are to raise the level of professional instruction in TESOL by providing opportunities for discussing, studying, and sharing information about TESOL and bilingual education, and to cooperate with other groups having similar concerns. Benefits of membership include The ORTESOL Journal, access to the member area of the ORTESOL website and The ORTESOL Newsletter, special member rates for ORTESOL conferences, and a variety of other services and opportunities for professional development.

For subscription and advertising information and guidelines for contributors, see http://www.ortesol.org/ or contact the Editors by email at billwalk@uoregon.edu or deborah.healey@oregonstate.edu.

Volume 24, 2006